

My Personal Mission

For myself, I will first acknowledge there is a higher being, "God".

I will have faith, pray, and utilize the law of attraction.

I will commit to being healthy and attractive by eating healthy, exercising regularly and treating myself well.

I will commit to being a life-long-learner.

I will embrace change and not be afraid.

Without risk, there is neither, success nor failure.

I will be positive and take 100% responsibility for my actions.

I will choose for myself or realize a choice will be made for me.

I will continue to show gratitude and love.

For my family, I will marry and have a compatible and supportive husband.

I will be a supportive, loving, nurturing wife, mother and friend.

I will make my home one of peace, cleanliness, love, warmth and happiness.

I will continue to value and respect my family, friends and colleagues.

I will avoid drama and unhealthy situations.

In the world, I will use my kindness and creativity to inspire others to be happy, confident and successful, while working their "own magic" through their "own unique strengths".

Financially, I will avoid consumer debt, save, invest, and manage my money wisely.

I am determined. A determined person cannot be kept from success.

I will achieve interdependence/self actualization.

For it is ME, who creates the quality of life I lead and the results I produce.
